Graduate Pathway Program

International Programs

Duquesne University's Graduate Pathway Program

It is designed for international graduate applicants who want to improve their English language skills while starting graduate-level coursework.

The Graduate Pathway Program grants you time to work on your English language writing and speaking skills to help you gain full admission to an academic graduate program.

Why should you apply?

- Better preparation to earn a Duquesne graduate degree
- English classes that prepare you to take the IELTS or TOEFL and GRE or GMAT needed for full admission to your chosen graduate program
- Earn academic credit toward your chosen graduate program while enrolled in the English coursework
- Enter fully into desired major within 2-3 semesters.

Open for students applying to:

Biotechnology
